

Skills Checkpoint for Older Workers

Skills Checkpoint for Older workers is an Australian Commonwealth Government initiative represented by The Department of Education and Training and The Department of Jobs and Small Business

Are you worried about aging out of your job? Looking to transition into a new career? Sign up for this new government-funded program that helps older workers, or recently unemployed older workers, remain in or re-enter the workforce.

If you're:

- Aged between 45 and 70; and
- An Australian citizen or permanent resident; and
- Employed and at risk of redundancy; or
- Unemployed for less than three months and not registered with an Australian Government Employment Services Provider;

We can provide you with personalised advice and guidance on upskilling for your current job, finding a new career, or help you discover options for further education and training opportunities.

What does the program involve?

You will work closely with a Career Advisor on your work experience, strengths and preferences, and undertake individually tailored assessments to identify career and skilling options to develop a personalised Career Plan, including:

- Skills you can develop to get a new job or new career;
- Skills you could enhance to increase your ability to perform in your current role;
- Advice and recommendations about skills and training options.

Eligible participants may access up to $2,200 (GST inclusive) as a co-contribution from the Australian Government to fund re-skilling or up-skilling opportunities.
